Supplementary Figure 1. Region-of-interest analysis, for the subtraction depth task minus rivalry task, as in Figure 4B, but for identical plaid patterns in which the components were at the matched high spatial frequency ($D_{H}R_{H}$). The differences between depth and rivalry were generally not statistically significant. The only exceptions were a bias for rivalry in V1 and LOR in the left hemisphere only.